

HONORS COLLEGE

Achieve More

The Georgia State University Honors College offers talented and motivated undergraduate students the experience of a small, selective college combined with the breadth of programs and opportunities of a large public research university in a dynamic and thriving city.

Honors College students pursue degrees with enhanced opportunities for academic achievement, research, housing, cultural programs, advisement, preparation for graduate or professional school, and mentoring for prestigious national undergraduate and postgraduate scholarship and fellowship competitions.

Academic Programs and Support

Small, discussion-based learning environments feature topical seminars taught by senior faculty to classes of 20 or fewer students.

Personalized attention, advisement and guidance help students make the most of their degree programs and enhance postgraduate opportunities.

The Accelerated Bachelor's/Juris Doctor program offers Honors College students a six-year combined degree program with Georgia State's nationally ranked College of Law.

The Honors College Certificate in Leadership develops small cohorts of Honors College students into tomorrow's change agents by helping them master leadership principles and group dynamics.

Undergraduate Research

Original research and creative work are encouraged, beginning with the signature Honors 1000 seminar and concluding with the Honors Undergraduate Thesis, written under the direction of Georgia State's most accomplished faculty researchers.

The Honors College Undergraduate Research Journal, Discovery, features outstanding student work compiled from presentations made at the annual Georgia State Undergraduate Research Conference.

The University Assistantship Program matches selected Honors College students with a department or office of interest, providing an opportunity for students to work on special projects or research. Students work eight hours per week for the entire academic year, earning up to $2,500 per academic year.

Connections to Atlanta and the World

Take advantage of Atlanta.

Honors College students have the opportunity to engage in the Southeast's center for business, government, arts, transportation and communication. Honors College students have enjoyed internships and employment at countless Atlanta organizations, including CNN, the Georgia Aquarium, Turner Broadcasting, KPMG and the Federal Reserve.

The London Experience, our signature internship program, is open exclusively to Honors College students and provides exciting internship opportunities covering a wide range of interests in the United Kingdom.

Beyond the Classroom

The Honors Living-Learning Community offers apartment-style living with other high-achieving students in the University Commons, Georgia State's nationally recognized residence hall.

Our Atlanta Arts Passport

offers Honors College students the opportunity to attend a free series of cultural events on campus and at some of Atlanta's outstanding arts venues.

Exceptional educational programming, lectures, art exhibits and more are regular features of the Honors College experience. Through the Honors Student Organization, students can also participate in meaningful community service projects throughout metro Atlanta.
