

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Georgia State University's College of Education & Human Development serves urban communities through community-grounded research and evidence-based instruction to a diverse student population.

We offer undergraduate, graduate and non-degree programs for professionals in education and human service fields. Our graduates are prepared to have a positive impact on the people they serve, while our research explores the needs of the people in those communities to improve their academic and career success.

We promote physical and mental well-being in schools, hospitals, clinics and community agencies. Our research, teaching and service address the most important educational issues at home and abroad.

For more than 50 years, we've built a legacy, graduating educators and professionals equipped with the tools to ensure others have an even brighter future.

ABOUT GEORGIA STATE

Georgia State, an enterprising public research university in Atlanta, is a national leader in graduating students from diverse backgrounds. The university provides its accomplished faculty and more than 53,000 students with unsurpassed connections to the opportunities available in one of the 21st century's great global cities.

DEGREES OFFERED

UNDERGRADUATE

- Bachelor of arts in sign language interpreting
- Bachelor of interdisciplinary studies — human learning & development; sport administration
- Bachelor of science in exercise science
- Bachelor of science in education — birth through five; elementary education; health and physical education; middle level education; special education

GRADUATE

- Master of arts
- Master of arts in teaching
- Master of education
- Master of science
- Educational specialist
- Doctor of education
- Doctor of philosophy

NON-DEGREE OPTIONS

- Undergraduate and graduate certificate programs
- Endorsements

1,500+
UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

1,500+
GRADUATE STUDENTS

NEARLY
800
STUDENTS GRADUATE
EACH YEAR

300+
NEW TEACHERS
EVERY YEAR

42,000+
ALUMNI WORLDWIDE

EDUCATION.GSU.EDU

MAJOR CENTERS & CLINICS

Centers and clinics in the College of Education & Human Development provide leadership, service and research opportunities in learning and development, teacher education, educational policy, adult learning and community outreach.

THE ALONZO A. CRIM CENTER FOR URBAN EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE brings together a number of programs, initiatives and conferences that provide students, faculty, staff and alumni the opportunity to learn more about serving urban populations.

THE PRINCIPALS CENTER provides practicing and aspiring school leaders with learning and networking opportunities to help them create schools that work for all children.

THE READING RECOVERY PROGRAM is an international early-intervention plan that trains teachers to identify students with reading and writing difficulties and create tailored lessons to help them improve their skills. The program serves teachers and teacher leaders in Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia and Bermuda and has affected more than 70,000 students in the Southeast.

THE SPEECH-LANGUAGE-HEARING CLINIC allows students studying to become speech-language pathologists to work with patients on articulation and stuttering, using the correct words in the right context and other related issues.

THE CHILD DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM, which has two locations in Atlanta, supports and develops teacher education programs, offers an ideal setting for students from a variety of disciplines to learn about young children through observation, interaction and research, and provides a model of best practices for Georgia's early-learning professionals at all professional levels.

THE URBAN LITERACY COLLABORATIVE AND CLINIC provides tutoring support for youth in grades 6-12 who struggle with reading and writing.

RESEARCH & DISCOVERY

The College of Education & Human Development prepares its students to think critically about the most pressing issues facing their fields today. Our faculty are uniquely positioned to address the diverse needs of the students and families the college serves. Below are highlights of some of the work our students and faculty are conducting:

- Increasing adult literacy
- Supporting students who are deaf or hard of hearing
- Improving the lives of children and adolescents with mobility disorders
- Promoting school safety and classroom management
- Understanding the ways in which sport interacts with, contributes to and interferes with urban spaces
- Exploring stress, trauma and resilience
- Adding multilingual education and dual-language immersion to classrooms
- Analyzing academic achievement and well-being of children living in urban areas
- Driving educational leadership

ATLANTA & GLOBAL CONNECTIONS

The College of Education & Human Development's location in downtown Atlanta gives its faculty, staff and students the unique opportunity to work with urban schools, clinics, sports teams and other organizations in the city. Our faculty work with more than 50 community partners, including the Atlanta Film Festival, the DeKalb County School District and Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Our clinicians and students provide speech-language and hearing screenings to the university and external community.

Through our programs, students gain invaluable experience in the field. They also have the chance to experience new cultures via study abroad opportunities in countries like France, Germany, Italy and Singapore.

More than 70 percent of graduates from our programs teach in high-need schools for at least three years.

CONNECT WITH US

College of Education & Human Development
Georgia State University
30 Pryor St. SW, Atlanta, GA 30303

404-413-8100
cehd@gsu.edu

 @CollegeofEducationGSU  @gsucehd